Victory proves the best form of advertising

It is only common sense to acknowledge that positive results on the field will bring positive results off the field and vice-versa.

Yet all the planning and all the money in the world cannot guarantee the publicity that a positive result often inspires.

And never was this more evident than following Carlton's tremendous 4-0 thumping of Wollongong Wolves last Sunday here at Optus Oval.

A glowing 3/4 page spread in the Herald Sun with photo, a smaller yet just as positive piece in the Age (also with photo) and it was truly impossible for anyone reading these two major newspapers to not know that Carlton had kicked off season 1998-99 in fine form.

A loss or even a draw would have severely diminished the editorial space dedicated to Carlton.

And the impact of impressive performances is none moreso evident than when the phones start ringing constantly with membership enquiries and ticket requests.

Sunday's victory was a sensational start to the new campaign and the feeling of anticipation amongst the fans as they filed out of the ground was fantastic. Fans were already discussing the next challenge in the form of Adelaide City, excited by Colosimo's goals, thrilled with Moreira's skills, impressed with Marth's leadership and inspired by a dour defence.

The samba beat resonated throughout the stadium, creating a great feeling amongst the fans.

12 months ago we didn't really know how to support Carlton. In fact, it was probably not until Carlton defeated Adelaide City in the corresponding fixture last season that a true feeling became evident from out in the terraces.

But we are now one year older and have had 31 odd games to tune up our supporting skills.

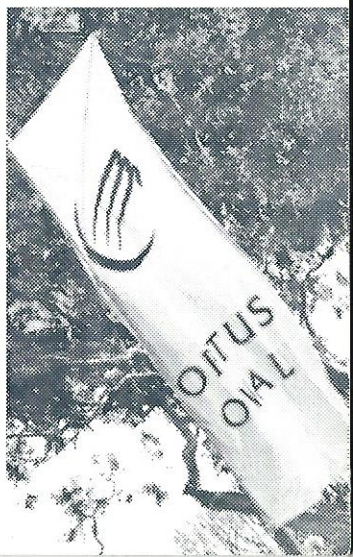
Indeed we now have our True Blues Supporters Club, a must for the die-hard Blues fans.

So the challenge issued today to all Carlton fans is this: we want to hear chants of "Carlton,Carlton" like we have never heard before.

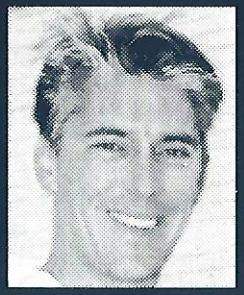
Let's inspire our boys to another great victory so that we can open the papers on Monday and once again read about a fantastic Carlton performance.

After all, what better way to reflect on a victory than to have the glorious story re-told in the press.

See you at the game!



The Coach



Having a near-perfect home record is always an important factor in teams having successful seasons and I feel it is important that we not only win at home, but win well.

I was most pleased with last Sunday's result, it was an ideal start to the new season. And of course the support from the terraces was excellent, there definitely was a great atmosphere within the stadium.

No doubt you can expect an entertaining match today against the classy Adelaide City side led by Zoran Matic. It will be a terrific test for Carlton and I look forward to securing another home victory and maintaining top spot on the table.

Eddie Krncevic

Get set for an even season full of surprises

Reviewing the results of Round One action it is obviously too early to predict how this 98-99 season will shape up.

What can be certain however is that almost every club in the Ericsson Cup is strong enough to push for a finals position.

This being the case, it will be a matter of which team can remain injury-free and be able to maintain form for as long as possible.

Last weekend Northern Spirit kicked off with a tremendous crowd against Sydney Olympic but was defeated 2-0 by an Olympic side obviously pumped up for a big season with new coach Branko Culina and football manager Frank Arok at the helm.

Perth Glory took on today's opponents Adelaide City and recorded a valuable away victory thanks to an early goal. Adelaide Sharks travelled to Canberra and did the same, scoring a 3-1 victory to welcome new coach Manfred Schaeffer to the club.

Perhaps the surprise of the round was Brisbane's 3-2 home win over the highly-fancied Marconi side. Frank Farina, returning to Brisbane but this time as coach of Marconi, would have been greatly disappointed with the result especially as the Strikers had seemingly an even weaker squad than that which finished last season. Sydney United and Newcastle, both regarded by most media as probable strugglers this season, fought out a 1-1 draw at Edensor Park.

South Melbourne did it tough against the gallant Falcons, needing a late goal from Coveny to secure the three points.

And of course here at Optus Oval we saw Carlton score its most convincing home victory yet with four unanswered goals against a disappointing Wollongong Wolves side.

The highlight of the day was Simon Colosimo's hatrick, an even more remarkable effort when one considers he is a sweeper. And what about Moreira? Disappointed with missing his penalty in the first half, he more than made up for it with a superb diving header which for some reason was disallowed. But nonetheless it was an example of just what we can expect from our "Samba" man. Andy Vlahos scored a great header thanks to good lead-up work from Moreira and Bresciano and the scoring was complete.

We welcome Adelaide City today to Optus Oval and look forward to a tremendous exhibition of soccer between two sides that pride themselves on attractive and skillful play. And to complete a feast of soccer here at Optus Oval, next Sunday we host the Northern Spirit in a game nobody should miss.

The Captain

It was great to lead the side out onto Optus Oval for the first time last week and an even better feeling at the final whistle as we recorded a memorable first-up result.

Today of course we are up against a quality side and there is always danger facing a Zoran Matic side, especially with the calibre of experienced players in the Zebras side.

But I know that we have the right system and personnel to overcome quality opposition and I look forward to a close-fought match which will hopefully see us record another home victory. It was fantastic to hear your support and I thank everyone for welcoming me to Carlton.

Andrew Marth

If there is one thing which is almost certain when it comes to Australian soccer it is that Adelaide City are traditional slow-starters to championship campaigns.

If anything, the 1-0 loss that City suffered last weekend at home to Perth Glory will spur Zoran Matic's side on to seek revenge at the expense of Carlton. With regular top-scorer Damian Mori teaming up with Carl Veart (who has returned to Australia following several seasons in England) the City attacking line is potent and will require the Carlton defence to be in form.

And of course it goes without saying that the return of Matic should help to re-establish stability in what has been a shaky couple of seasons for City. With the likes of John Perin and John Nyskohous lasting only one season each in charge since Matic's departure, there is no doubt that City's squad of experienced players will endeavour to welcome back Zoran with a successful season.

But undoubtedly the main problem with City is that despite the wealth of experience in the side, some of those legs in defence may be a little weary and unable to keep up with pacy forwards.

Enter Tricarico, Vlahos, Bresciano and Moreira. If one was to suggest where this match will be won or lost it is with City's defence being able to keep up with the fast legs of Carlton's attacking line.

Of course there are likely to be many other battles to be fought on the park as both sides seek the three points.

For lovers of attractive, skillful soccer, today's match should serve up a feast of highlights with some of Australia's finest players on display.

So you start thinking "maybe that happened because of ME.

Maybe if I think hard enough, CHEER, no SCREAM HARD enough, this game will be ours."

Well, we didn't want to be the ones to break this to you, but see that guy sitting opposite you? Yeah, the one holding the 'Coke', cheering for the other side. Guess what? He's thinking the SAME THING you are.
